University of Wyoming Sorority has slammed its own sisters who sued after a trans identified man was allowed to live in an all-female house and frequently sexually harassed the girls showing his 'erection.'

The Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority has denounced the 7 young women for filling a lawsuit claiming the term 'woman' is 'unquestionably open to many interpretations.'

The sorority leadership has been accused of trying to bully the girls into silence calling their lawsuit 'frivolous' and 'political.'

The trans identified man, 6ft 2 Artemis Langford repeatedly made the sisters uncomfortable by staring at them for hours with a visible erect penis and is accused of taking photos of the girls at slumber parties and being sexually aroused constantly while staring at the girls.

The 7 sisters are suing saying that having men in their female only house is a violation of their rights and claiming the Kappa Kappa Gamma only changed its rules to allow transgender members after Artemis Langford complained citing discrimination.

It will only end when the women boycott and leave. They must deny the sorority their dues and publicly shame them.

Wouldn't it be interesting if anyone sends their kids to college anymore? How much would you pay for your daughter to be forced to sleep in the same house as sexual deviants?

When you make yourself an anomaly you must accept you are the one who must be excluded. This man is not and will never be a woman. The human rights of these women are being removed to accommodate a mentally ill man.

The problem is very simple to fix. All the girls in that sorority can just quite and start a new one! Send a message to the school and make a stand. I'm not saying they give up but boycotting will bring more attention to it then just obeying a court order!

He should be told that in order to stay in the house he has to take the step to have gender reassignment surgery. If he doesn't want to do that, he should leave the house.
